

Fish Asking

The lotus pond is raining in the spring,

Water is responding the wind.

Swimming beneath the waterweeds,

Hearing the sounds of falling drops,

One fish asked

Who could tell the mystery of this melody?

The frogs might not be able to answer.

But the reflecting appearances in the waves are all transparent and clear.

Stanley Yeh    April 2009